

Quote of the Day

The match between Venus Williams and Jelena Jankovic ended in a victory for the American, 4/6, 6/1, 7/6(4) but on court Jelena showed a side of her personality that many players would be wise to imitate.

In Jelena's own words,

“ I think it's nice to be fair, to give credit to the opponent. When she hits a great shot, why not? You can say, Well done. Nothing wrong with that. Nothing wrong with smiling also on the court. I cannot do anything when she hits an unbelievable serve. I cannot return it. So why not give her credit and say, Well done”

“I think you have to have fun sometimes on the court. I don't think you have to always be so serious like some of the players are. You have to enjoy it. So this is what I'm doing, having a lot of fun on the court. It's disappointing when you lose a match, but this is a game when one has to lose, you cannot both come out of the court as winners. I was the one tonight. I have to move on and be positive and work very hard. I'm very young and my time will come.”
